Summary of Content: This self-study handbook is designed to help beginning students attain an intermediate level of oral and written proficiency. It offers a well-structured format and clear explanations on basic vocabulary and grammar (including conjugations of key tenses in the Indicative mode: present, past tenses and future). The book, divided into 12 chapters, starts with a useful guide to French pronunciation. The goal of each chapter is clearly stated with a list of communication and grammatical skills to acquire. Each lesson starts with a dialogue followed by the English translation, a list of useful vocabulary with translations, a list of grammatical terms and/or verb charts with grammatical explanations. The many “Quick tips” provide practical information throughout the chapter. The section “It’s a wrap” summarizes what has been learned. Each lesson ends with a “Teach Yourself” section, which includes exercises followed by answer keys. Both French and English terms are listed together in the same index.
